Fulbright Selection is a Year-Long Process

After national selection, independent committees review final nominations in the United States. These review committees make recommendations to the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board. The Institution of International Education (IIE) will seek university placement of successful candidates. Final announcements of awards and university placement are made in spring for programs beginning in autumn.

Long-Term English Training (LTE)

In special cases, very competitive applicants with low TOEFL scores can be recommended for a Long-Term English Training (LTE) pre-academic program. Their TOEFL score must be in the range of 61-76, and they must be available to begin their LTE training in January 2022.

On successful completion of their language training and admission to an appropriate university academic program, grantees will be admitted into the Fulbright Foreign Student Program to pursue their degrees within the guidelines of the J. William Fulbright Scholarship Board. Candidates who are not successful in gaining degree admission upon completion of the English training program will return home with an English language certificate.
